The Global Interactive WhiteBoard (IWB) market is positioned for a surge in demand, technological proliferation, along with increasing applications across corporate and government sectors, is about to drive market growth

Digital whiteboards like the Vsmart boards take the simplicity of a whiteboard & pen and combine it with the technology to instantly capture, save & email the Contents of your board at the touch of a button. Meeting participants can also view, save & share the contents of the board in realtime on their smartphone even-if they are in a different location

There's no more taking photos on personal devices and relying on people to re-distribute the notes, making it a quicker, easier & more efficient way of collaborating and disseminating information. And if you work in technophobes, do not worry! this systems are literally, "walk up and write". So you maintain the simplicity of a traditional whiteboard
